

MONDAY IS THE TIME

Cuban Question to Be Finally Disposed of on That Day.

CONSIDERABLE SHARP DEBATE.

House Proceedings on the Legislative Appropriation Bill Interrupted by an Attack Upon the President by Mr. Hartman of Montana—Conferees Appointed. National Affairs.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—For a long time yesterday afternoon it looked as though the Cuban question would be finally disposed of in the senate by agreeing to the conference report accepting the house resolutions.

At the conclusion of Mr. Mitchell's elaborate argument on the Dupont case, Mr. Sherman presented the report of the conferees and asked for immediate action. Representatives Hitt and Adams, two of the house conferees, were present at the time, as it was expected the report would be adopted. But as it was then 3 o'clock not more than a dozen senators were present and Mr. Hall of Maine suggested that it was undesirable to crowd through a resolution of this magnitude at a late hour and with an empty senate. This brought considerable sharp debate. Mr. Chandler, who had not before been heard on Cuba, declared himself in favor not only of recognizing but of maintaining the independence of Cuba, even if it resulted in war with Spain. Mr. Hawley expressed sympathy with the public feeling against Spain, yet he feared the earnestness and eagerness of the United States would involve us in war not only with Spain but other European countries. He deprecated the flippancy with which warlike utterances were made. Mr. Sherman concluded to let the subject go over until Monday, the senate having agreed to adjourn until then.

IN THE HOUSE.

Interest in the Abolishment of the Fee System Continues.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The house yesterday wrangled for four hours over the salaries of United States marshals and the other features of the amendment to legislative appropriation bill to abolish the fee system in the cases of attorneys and marshals. Interest in that debate was completely overshadowed by a sensational attack made upon President Cleveland by Mr. Hartman (Rep., Mo.) who felt himself personally aggrieved by Mr. Cleveland's utterances at the Presbyterian Home Mission meeting in New York on Tuesday and who seized the opportunity allowed by the latitude of debate on appropriation bills to repel the idea that the western states were the home of evil influences. Mr. Hartman sent to the clerk's desk and had read extracts from Mr. Cleveland's address. Following the reading a lively discussion was engaged in by several members of both parties.

The house then resumed the consideration of the amendment to the legislative appropriation bill to abolish the fee systems. The salaries of the marshals fixed yesterday were identical with those of the district attorneys fixed Wednesday, except in the following districts: Indiana $4,500; eastern district of Louisiana $2,500; Maine $3,000; Nevada $2,000; New Jersey $2,000; northern district of New York $5,000 and southern district of New York $5,000.

Under the fee system both district attorneys and marshals were allowed fees, not to exceed $6,000 and mileage, which in some cases swelled the compensation to as high as $8,000 and $10,000. Instead of mileage at the rate of 10 cents per mile each way, the amendment allows attorneys and marshals their actual traveling expenses. It fixes the fees of United States commissioners considerably below the present schedule. The debate was interrupted to allow the speaker to appoint as conferees on the Cuban resolution Messrs. Hitt (Rep., Ill.), Adams (Rep., Pa.) and McCreary (Dem., Ky.).

Did Not Desire the Change.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The nomination of James H. Mulligan of Kentucky, to be United States consul general at Capetown, South Africa, was withdrawn, as is now learned, at Mr. Mulligan's own instance. He was desirous of a transfer from his present post as United States consul general at Apia, Samoa, but did not care to make this particular exchange.

Favor Home Vessels.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senator Elkins yesterday introduced a bill providing for a discriminating duty of 10 per cent ad valorem in addition to other duties on all merchandise imported in vessels not belonging to citizens of the United States.

Did Not Effect a Cure.

SHELLEY, Mich., March 6.—A citizen of this place has been corresponding for some time with a Chicago rheumatism cure company and was daily expecting a box by mail. Finally he secured his box and joyfully told his friends he would soon be a well man. Upon opening it he was astonished to find it contained several dozen Pingree buttons. His rheumatism is no better.

Normal School Destroyed.

STANBURY, Mo., March 6.—The North-western Normal school, with an enrollment of 400 students from almost every state in the union, burned to the ground yesterday. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $30,000. The students all escaped unhurt, but lost their personal effects.

TO REMEDY EVILS.

Colored People Endeavoring to Help the Progress of the Race.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., March 6.—The annual Tuskegee negro conference, under the auspices of the Tuskegee Negro Industrial and Normal school, which opened yesterday, is in many respects the most notable gathering of representatives of the colored race that has ever assembled in America. Representative men of the race have come from sections of Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and other states to exchange views as to their present industrial, educational and religious condition and to endeavor to devise a remedy for the evils now barring the progress of the race. Nearly 800 colored people listened to the opening address of Professor B. T. Washington. One of the most interesting features of these annual gatherings is the workers' conference. It is composed of delegates representing the different religious organizations of institutions in the south devoted to the interests of the colored people.

ILLINOIS CATTLE HEALTHY.

State Veterinarian Makes a Number of Tuberculin Tests.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 6.—A regular meeting of the Illinois live stock commission was held in their office at the statehouse yesterday. Dr. R. M. Trumbower, state veterinarian, reported having made tuberculin tests on 120 cattle at De Kalb during the past week and found them free from disease. A similar test was made on a herd of 11 at Elgin, from which the milk supply of that city is derived, and found the cattle in perfect health. Another herd of 75 in the same county was tested and 27 found infected with disease and killed. The veterinarian says that the state is comparatively free from diseased cattle at this time. From lack of sufficient funds the examination cannot be as extensively made as he would desire.

JACKSON AND WALLING.

Attorneys to Fight the Extradition to the Very Last.

CINCINNATI, March 6.—Interest in the murderers is surely dying out so far as idle curiosity is concerned and the prisoners are becoming more and more hardened to the situation. They express absolute indifference as to the outcome of their cases, even Jackson, who has all along protested against being taken to Kentucky, stating that he didn't care what the outcome of the extradition proceedings were. It will be a surprise to many if the prisoners reach Kentucky inside of 30 days, as both Jackson's and Walling's attorneys have declared their intention of fighting the extradition to the last.

Music Hall Dedicated.

ROCKFORD, Ill., March 6.—Seva Music hall, which has been in course of construction for two years at a cost of $50,000, was dedicated last night with a grand concert by the Seva Song Singing society, the projectors of the big building. Professor Wilhelm Lindberg and Professor Ortengren of Chicago and Miss Edia Lund of the music department of Augustana college, Rock Island, were among those who took part in the programme.

Strikers Becoming Despirited.

CINCINNATI, March 6.—A new feature is appearing in the strike and outlook between the clothiers and garment-makers in this city. Manufacturers say they are importing cutters from New York and Chicago where there are plenty of that class out of work. The rumor of this movement circulated among the strikers has dispirited them somewhat.

Considering Action.

ANOTHER OUTBREAK

Renewed Demonstrations of Hostility Shown by Spaniards.

CONSULATE WINDOWS BROKEN.

Reports of These Dastardly Outrages May Have the Effect of Hastening Action on the Cuban Resolutions—Alleged Telegram of Minister de Lome Not Believed in Washington.

VALENCIA, March 6.—The disorders which were prevalent here when the news was first received of the action of the United States senate on the Cuban question, broke out afresh yesterday and there were renewed demonstrations of hostility to the United States.

The mob made its way to the United States consulate, which was stoned, and the windows of which were smashed by the infuriated populace.

Several attempts were made by disorderly paraders to make their way to the United States consulate, but they were frustrated, as the authorities had received special orders to be on the look-out for any demonstration against the property of the United States. Special protection was afforded the building in which the office of the consul is located with a view to the same end. The mob gathered before the building before the police were aware of what was occurring, and stones began to fly from the crowd with the result that windows were broken. The crowd were cheered on by sympathizers in the streets and from the neighboring houses. The police lost no time in charging the rioters and the mob was speedily dispersed, the missiles being flung almost while those who threw them were taking flight.

There was no violence indulged in in other parts of the city, the demonstrations being confined to noisy clamor, cries of derision against the United States government and attempts to make speeches. The orators were not allowed to proceed far before the police drove away their hearers and warned the speakers to desist. A number of arrests were made as a result of the defiance of the orders issued for preserving the peace.

MAY HASTEN ACTION.

These Attacks Will No Doubt Create New Indignation in Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The late hour at which the reports of disorders yesterday in Valencia were received made it impossible to learn whether any official information had been received here in regard to the trouble. The attack will no doubt create renewed indignation in congressional circles and may have the effect of hastening action on the Cuban resolutions when the conference report is taken in the senate on Monday. In this, as in the case of the attack on the consulate at Barcelona last Sunday, the Spanish government, it is quite likely, will express to the United States regret for the occurrence and make a complete disavowal of it.

The Spanish minister has not received any advices concerning this latest disturbance.

No Direct News of Nansen.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 6.—Baron Toll, the Russian explorer, who established the Nansen provision depots on the New Siberian islands, expresses the opinion that the date (Nov. 10) of the letter from Peter Ivanovitch Kuchanoff, the trader at Ust Yansk, lessens the probability of the report regarding Nansen, inasmuch as Nansen himself or a comrade must have reached the mainland at the same time as the date of this letter, in which case a direct communication from Nansen would have arrived long ago.

College President Resigns.

AKRON, O., March 6.—Dr. O. Cone resigned yesterday as president of Buchel college, giving his reasons that there was too much sectarian control of the institution, contrary to the desires of the founder.

Probably Arose From an Interview.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—From a source, the accuracy of which cannot be questioned, the report that Minister Dupuy de Lome has telegraphed his government that President Cleveland will refuse as long as he is president either to recognize the rebels or intervene in the Cuban question, can be safely denied. Statements of a similar nature have heretofore been published. The foundation for the statement probably arose from an interview with Minister de Lome quite extensively published in this country and portions of which have no doubt found their way to Madrid.

Excitement Abating.

BARCELONA, March 6.—The universities here, at Valencia and at Granada are closed in order to prevent the students from making demonstrations against the United States. The excitement, however, has considerably abated, and there is a belief prevailing that Great Britain and France will support Spain against the United States.

King of Spain Burned in Emory.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 6.—The undergraduates of Princeton last night burned in effigy the king of Spain in a demonstration in which several hundred took part. The flag of Spain was dragged through the main street and later was torn to pieces in the center of the campus.

H. C. Wilmoth in Nine Years Wedded Nine Different Women.

KANSAS CITY, March 6.—H. C. Wilmoth, going under various aliases and who was recently arrested at Terre Haute, Ind., and taken to Kansas City, Kan., charged with bigamy, pleaded guilty in that city yesterday. The trial developed the remarkable fact that Wilmoth had in the last nine years married nine different women, all of whom are said to be living, and that in each case he deserted them after having secured their money. They live in Chicago, Duluth, St. Paul, Cincinnati and other points. Mrs. Wilmoth No. 1, formerly Miss Ora Wilkins of Seneca, Kan., and Mrs. Wilmoth No. 2, a former Effingham, Ill., woman, appeared yesterday to prosecute the prisoner. Wilmoth had but recently been liberated from the state penitentiary after serving a 5-year sentence for defrauding Mrs. A. Ellison, a Kansas City woman, to whom he was married in 1890. Sentence was postponed.

DAY HAS BEEN SET.

Holmes is Given Sixty Days to Prepare Himself For Death.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 6.—The date for the execution of H. H. Holmes, the convicted murderer of Benjamin Pitezel and alleged murderer of 21 others, was fixed by Governor Hastings yesterday. He names Thursday, May 7, as the day. The decision of the supreme court affirming the judgment of the lower court was received at the executive department yesterday afternoon and immediately laid before the governor by Secretary Beidler. The governor though Holmes should have at least 60 days in which to prepare for death and selected the time accordingly. The death warrant was at once prepared and forwarded to Sheriff Clement at Philadelphia.

MRS. MARSH'S BEQUESTS.

Gives Her Body and Property to Colorado and Michigan Universities.

ANN HARBOR, Mich., March 6.—A Denver paper says the late Dr. Annie E. Marsh of Greeley, Colo., bequeathed nearly all her property to the University of Michigan and her body to the University of Colorado. Her possessions including lands in Arizona, Colorado and the east. Mrs. Marsh's husband carried out her desires as to the disposition of her body, which now lies on the dissecting table. The University of Michigan, however, has received no intimation of the property bequest. Mrs. Marsh was for a long time a resident of Ann Harbor and graduated from the medical department here.

Commissioners Refuse Licenses.

SPENCER, Ind., March 6.—In accordance with petitions signed by a majority of voters of this (Washington) township, and filed last week, the county board of commissioners refused licenses to two saloon applicants—Heenan Baker and Richard Hardin—and will undoubtedly take similar action upon the remaining application of George Leitch. The World says that it could not be positively learned last night that their mission had any reference to Cuba, but it is known that the president has implicit confidence in General Merritt and that he would be quite likely to name him for a position of the character indicated.

The company owns large and valuable grounds known as Epworth heights, near Loveland. Typhoid Fever.

Typhoid is now admitted by all scientists to be caused by a venom microbe that swarms by the million in the tissues of the small intestines, producing fever, delirium, extreme prostration, putrefaction and death. The medical profession has earnestly sought a reliable antidote for this mortal plague and found none. Hence it is a bold, an almost startling claim, (a claim never before dared to be made for any remedy) that Brazilian Balm, alone, will positively cure Typhoid Fever in any stage. This great discovery was the result of a woman's faith. Mrs. L. B. Bradway, of Wilmington, Del., believed the Balm would do almost anything. Hence she gave it in 6 drop doses, every three to five minutes, to a young lady in the last stage of Typhoid. She had been given up by the doctor, who said she could not live half an hour. To the surprise of all she quickly revived and recovered. Since then it has been used by laymen, nurses and physicians with uniform success. How it cures was then a mystery, but it is now fully settled that it promptly destroys every Typhoid bacillus in the system. It stanches the hemorrhage, heals the whole alimentary tract, and, instead of the slow, tedious convalescence, restores to health and strength with surprising rapidity. In short, it fills every condition of a perfect antidote for Typhoid. Treatment: Give 10 drops every 15 minutes while the fever rages, and once an hour when the fever is off, and give nothing else. During convalescence give 3 or 4 times a day. To prevent Typhoid give every hour.

Painesville, O., druggists say nothing has been offered in that town for years which is so popular and gives such universal satisfaction as Brazilian Balm. Nearly 400 bottles have been sold there in the last two months.

SEND news to Telephone 95.

ATTEND tomorrow's convention.

An exchange says there are 800,000,000 cents in this country and that the mints are constantly coining more as the demand is increasing. Democracy causes this as where formerly many men had dollars they now have cents; hence the demand for coppers.

The BANNER TIMES telephone news number is 95. Remember it when you have an item. We want the news.

Big Sleeves Going Out.

Sleeves this spring are to be close fitting, to our great delight, with simply a small puff at the shoulder to cause the transition from puffiness to flatness to appear less abrupt. Every one rejoices over the proposed change except the very serawny women, who adore the fashions that gave them apparent bulk. Also our skirts are to be much more narrow. Instead of the abominations known as godets, our skirts are to be slightly shirred or plaited at the back and side and perfectly flat in front, which will relieve us of the tremendous weight of material, lining and interlining, we have to carry about at present, if we observe the current fashions and do not, in revolt at their inconvenience, plunge recklessly into bicycling suits, as many women in Paris have done. Alpaca of every shade and color is to be the favorite spring materials, and wild and wonderful combinations of this once despised stuff are being made to gladden our eyes and empty our purses a little later on.

A Correction.

In yesterday's paper an unintentional error was made by the BANNER TIMES. In speaking of the grand jury report on the jail and poor farm our types said the jury reported the two institutions in a "poor condition." It should have read in "good" condition. The copy was plainly written correctly, but a compositor, by mistake, put the word "poor" in the wrong place and in hurried proof reading it was missed. We make this correction cheerfully as it is no intention of this paper to misrepresent anything, the error being one of those apparently inexcusable ones that frequently occur in the best of printing offices.

Eagleson Wins.

Some two years ago Preston Eagleson, a negro foot ball player on the I. U. team, went to Crawfordsville and was refused entertainment at Nutt house because of his color. He sued Manager Fruchey under the civil rights bill and got judgment for $50 in the circuit court. The case was appealed and yesterday was affirmed by the supreme court. Judge Reinhardt holds: 1. Where a person is refused hotel privileges on account of his color the owner of the hotel is liable for damages, as provided in the statutes. 2. An agency may be established by circumstantial evidence. 3. A minor is liable for such things as are necessary to his support and comfort comporting with his station in life.

Tomorrow's Convention.

The republicans of Putnam county will meet in mass convention tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock at the court house to select delegates and alternates to six conventions for which a call has appeared in this paper for several weeks. A good attendance is desired and will no doubt be there, but we desire to say a word to Greencastle republicans. You can greatly increase the crowd by your presence if but a few minutes. The country people generally do their share but at some of these business meetings the city attendance is not what it should be. Give a few minutes to the day and a large crowd will be the result.

Do Not Do This.

Do not be induced to buy any other if you have made up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Remember that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. Do not give up in despair because other medicines have failed to help you. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and you may reasonably expect to be cured.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients.

What is the Matter?

Are you constipated? Do you have sick headaches? Is your Nervous system, liver or kidneys out of order? If so, cure yourself by using Wright's Celery Tea. It improves the complexion. Price 25 cents sold by Albert Allen, Druggist.

About the Eyes.

For people with sore eyes, weak, watery eyes, and red and inflamed eyes, caused by age, catarrh or otherwise, the Brazilian Balm is a priceless boon. Put 15 or 20 drops of Balm into a spoonful of warm water and bathe the eyes well night and morning, getting some of the solution into the eyes. The relief and benefit is worth a hundred times the cost.

ANOTHER NEGRO

Bobs up as a Witness in the Bryan Case.

A negro from Newport giving the name of Allee Bell arrived here yesterday from Cincinnati and told a story about the Bryan case that has some interesting details if nothing more. Bell visited the Bryan residence yesterday and stated that he had come from Newport to tell what he knew about the case. His tale was interesting and he accurately described the cloak that Pearl Bryan wore when she left here, which cloak by the way has never been traced since the murder except by Bell. In order to test the fellow he was shown a number of photographs from which he readily picked one of Pearl. This and his statements led the family to credit his narrative and he was brought up town where he was questioned for two hours by Prosecutor Lewis, his evidence being taken down by a stenographer.

The substance of his story is that he has a sister, Mary Alexander, living at Newport and this sister is the friend of a cook at the residence of a Johnson family and this cook states that Pearl Bryan was at the Johnson house in Newport on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 30 and 31, the murder occurring on the night of the latter date; that about three o'clock on Saturday morning this same girl's cloak and a valise were brought to the Johnson house and taken into the basement where his sister says they were still located as late as Sunday last. Bell says he was sent here by a prominent citizen of Newport who gave him six dollars in cash and an order to the Little Miami depot agent for a railroad ticket to Greencastle. He left Newport Tuesday for this city but by mistake got off at Danville, not showing up at the Bryan house until yesterday. Bell says the prominent citizen who sent him does not want his name mentioned but said when closely questioned that the man was foreman of a large factory which manufactured iron tubing, and further located the man's residence.

Mr. Lewis sent a synopsis of Bell's statement to Sheriff Plummer at Newport last night and the matter is being investigated at that end of the line today. Bell says that he knew Jackson and Walling by sight and that they often were in Newport where they visited a park; he also said they were seen in a saloon in Newport on Friday and both had valises, and that he can substantiate this part of his story by the evidence of another colored man.

He locates the Johnson residence where he claims Miss Bryan stopped as being the corner of Sixth and Ather streets.

Bell is a one-armed man, forty-six years old, tells his story readily

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

Cured

Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 12 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MESSENGER, Freehold, Penn. This and many other cures prove that act easily, promptly and effectively. 25 cents.

and says he doesn't want any pay for his statement nor is he claiming any reward. He claims he was born on the Alexander farm near Ft. Thomas, and has lived there and has worked as a servant all his life. The Alexander farm is one of the largest in the country and is well known to parties acquainted at all with the country. It may be that Bell is a second edition of Lulu Hollingsworth but his motive is certainly different from her's as she wanted notoriety and got it with a big N. Bell remained here over night. If his story bears investigation he has cleared up some points in the case so far shrouded in mystery.

The Commercial Gazette today says: After investigating the story thoroughly, Sheriff Plummer came to the conclusion that Bell was seeking notoriety, and nothing more. He sent a telegram to Fred Bryan from whom he had received several messages, and requested him to have Bell locked up charged with vagrancy. Sheriff Plummer says there is no farm in Campbell county owned by Robert Alexander. Henry Johnson, a colored laborer, says Bell visited his home recently and said he was an old school mate of Johnson's wife and succeeded in borrowing $10 and a rifle after which he returned no more. Jackson and Walling deny any knowledge of Bell.

Bell is evidently crazy or is trying to tell a bigger lie than Lulu, with the chances at present decidedly in his favor. The police will hold him.

Bell will be held here until developments warrant his returning to Cincinnati. The local officers do not credit his story to any extent and he is thought to be an impostor.

SCHUYLER SKIPPED.

The Greencastle Deputies Not Slick Enough for Him.

Schuyler Hamrick eluded arrest yesterday at his home north of the city by a neat ruse. Clarence Glidewell and Jeff Ford were sent out by Sheriff Glidewell to make the arrest. They carried a bench warrant as an indictment was returned at the late session of the grand jury for Schuyler alleging forgery, and he was wanted before Judge McGregor before court adjourned for this term. The Greencastle officers left here before daylight and arrived at the residence of Hamrick's father just as they were getting up. Hamrick was called and responded, attired only in his undershirt and pants. The warrant was read to him and he then asked permission to wash. This favor the accommodating officers granted but made the fatal mistake of letting Schuyler go alone to the bath room. They waited a long time but Schuyler did not return. It then dawned upon them that he wasn't going to return and they searched high and low for the missing man. They didn't find him and returned here later in the day without their prisoner but with some experience.

Hamrick is charged with forgery. He had some trouble over some notes some time ago it will be remembered but the matter was adjusted by his father after Schuyler had been under arrest at Indianapolis at the instance of the agent of the McCormick Implement company. Owen Sutherland, a farmer, holds a note which bears the name of Hamrick's father, which signature Mr. Hamrick, sr., claims is not genuine which fact he testified to at one time in court when suit was brought on the note. At latest writing Schuyler was still at large. He traveled last summer with Sells Bros.' circus, and at one time studied here for the ministry. Mr. Hamrick and family have the sympathy of their friends here in their trouble with their erring son as he has caused them great expense. A father's and a mother's love has been thoroughly expressed by them and their son's ingratitude is unexplainable.

A Typical Easter Gown.

Isabel A. Mallon in telling of "New Gowns of Eastertide" in March Ladies' Home Journal, describes a typical costume showing the most fashionable combination, that of black and stem green, with a black satin skirt fitted closely over the hips, but flaring so much from the knee down that its fullness almost suggests a bounce. The jacket bodice is of stem-green velvet fitted very smoothly to the figure until the waist is reached, and then there is a short ripple skirt so full that the black satin lining is visible. The rolling collar and revers are faced with black satin.

The State Building and Loan league met in annual session in the Agricultural room at the state capitol this morning at ten o'clock. Every building and loan association in the state is entitled to representation. In view of the fact that a commission has been appointed by the governor to prepare a new building and loan law for consideration by the next legislature there is danger of the adoption of provisions detrimental to local associations in the opinion of building and loan people. It is understood that the state league will discuss this matter and take action in the interests of the local associations as against the national and state associations.

The news from Spain today is not of an encouraging nature to Mr. A. T. Kelley of this city. The dispatches state that a mob stoned the U. S. consulate at Valencia, and the windows were smashed by the infuriated populace. The consul at Valencia is Mr. A. F. Pay, who lately was appointed Consul with headquarters at Denia, Spain. Denia is a smaller place than Valencia so Mr. Pay chose the latter place for his residence. He is a son-in-law of Mr. Kelley, having married Susie G. Kelley, and with their child they have lately established themselves in their new location. It is hoped by their friends here that the reports are overdrawn and Mr. and Mrs. Pay are safe from the Spanish mob.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

No DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker. When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

A CREOLE ROMANCE.

It was drizzling, and the banquet was overlaid with a black slush which seemed to ooze from the very paving stones. The girl standing on the corner—her slim, white gown—figure softly outlined against the pink stucco of the wall behind her—appeared curiously at variance with the November afternoon gloom. The single passenger in a street car crawling past glanced out at her with a momentary gleam of interest. "She looks like a bayou lily," he murmured, returning to his evening paper.

There is nothing earthly which can compare for whiteness with the bayou lily —hovering above the dark marsh like a tormented soul, pure, spotless, radiant, exhaling an innocent perfume, its flexible stem rooted far below in the slime.

The drizzle became a downpour, and the few pedestrians hurried into shelter, leaving the narrow street quite deserted.
The girl drew a little farther under the high, projecting balcony, with its wrought iron balustrade. Her white gown, slightly open at the throat, as if designed for indoors, was drenched with the wind blown rain, though, by some miracle, the hem remained unsoiled by the ooze beneath her feet. She was very young. The delicate, almost childlike face beneath her round hat was pale. Her violet eyes had a strained, expectant look. She leaned against the wall of the old building, trembling, as if frightened or overfatigued.

The heavy batten shutters were flung back. Their enormous bolts turned aslant.
The inner doors, whose upper halves were composed of fancifully shaped panes of ground glass, were closed.

On the same spot—christened by some dead and gone wag the corner of Absinth and Anisette—stood, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirteen, the self same building. It was even then more than a quarter of a century old, and a conspicuous landmark in its isolated situation, a few low habitations only clustering between it and the outlying swamps, and but a thin scattering of houses stretching down to the river. The steep roof of the single squat story was tiled. A long arm thrust out from the eaves held a lantern over the muddy, unpaved street. It was a cabaret then as now, and then, as now, famous for its "green hours."

Its rough outer wall one morning in the autumn of that year was adorned with a large printed poster, which set forth in the three languages then current in the old town on the Mississippi the misdeeds of one Jean Lafitte, smuggler, marauder, desperado and pirate, and offered in the name of his excellency Governor Claiborne a reward of $500 for the capture of the said Jean Lafitte and his delivery into the hands of justice.

The laughing eyes of a knot of "apparent" idlers on the wooden banquettes were turned alternately from this placard to the tall, handsome man—no less a person than Jean Lafitte himself—who leaned against the wall, the long curling locks of his hair blown against the signature of his (late provisional) excellency. But there were covert flashes of malign intelligence in some of the laughing eyes, and an imperceptible movement of the crowd toward the batten door at the outlay's right hand.
His own glances, as he banded jests with the leaders, toying the while with the fringed end of his green silk sash, went warily about. He knew himself to be in danger of arrest. He might indeed pay with his life for his seeming bravado. But he was not thinking of himself. His ear was strained to catch the slightest sound within the cabaret, where Henri Destrehan was, hitherto quaffing his glass of absinth, unaware that his enemies, sworn to butcher him like a rat in a trap, were closing upon him.

It was the knowledge of his friend's impending peril which had drawn the pirate chief from his laqueon fastnesses.
"How about that last bale of smuggled silk brocade, Lafitte?" demanded a brawny, dark browed man lightly, edging nearer to the wall as he spoke.

"Sold at $10 the yard, for the waistcoats of his excellency the governor!" returned Lafitte in the same tone.

"And the gold chain captured on the high seas from his grace the Mexican bishop?" laughed another.

"Sold off in inches for the repose of his grace's soul."

He had dropped the end of his sash.
His hand as he spoke was on the door.
"A moi, Destrehan, a moi!" he cried, bursting into the dimly lighted cabaret.
And catching the bewildered young officer into the sweep of his powerful arm, he lifted him from the floor, bore him through the very midst of his enemies, turned the corner with the leaping speed of a stag, and disappeared behind a clump of cabins in the direction of the swamp. A howl of rage and a volley of shot from the baffled plotters followed the fugitives, but they were already safe from pursuit.

A few days later Destrehan was about starting on his roundabout journey to France. A prodigy, dancing on the breast of the sinuous bayou which led away from the outlaws' stronghold at Barataria, awaited him with its like dark skinned poddler. "If ever a Destrehan"—those were his parting words to Lafitte, with a warm hand clasp—"if ever a Destrehan falls a Lafitte in the hour of need, may his soul die and his bones rot unburied."

Leonie Destrehan, apparently unconscious of the rain which continued to fall, was waiting still. The pallor of her delicate face had increased. She moved nearer to the closed door of the cabaret.

Within there was a drowsy silence. The fat, baldheaded proprietor was nodding over an outworn copy of La Mouchette.
It was midway between early and late hours of the staid and respectable habitation who came with the regularity of unimpeachable clocks every day at noon and every day before setting toward their late dinners.
The floor had been resanded since noon and swept into fresh geometrical figures, and the old fashioned wooden bar with its simple fixtures was in readiness for the 6 o'clock customers.

There was, however, a single patron who stood with his left hand resting lightly on the bar. In his right he held a small tumbler. The wan light filtering in through the ground glass of the door fell upon its cloudy green contents, giving them an unearthly gleam. The man, who was elegantly and fashionably attired, was young and extraordinarily handsome, though his face showed signs of dissipation, and his dark eyes beneath the thick brows had a bold, unpleasant expression. He wore a white flower in his buttonhole.

He lifted the glass to his lips, but set it down hastily. Octave Lafitte! It was a whisper, a faintly dying breath, but he heard his own name distinctly pronounced.
He looked at the dead old man half asleep in his chair. Then he stepped noiselessly to the door. The rain, striking him full in the face as he opened it, blurred his vision for a second. "Mille, Destrehan!

Leonie!" he exclaimed, starting back surprised, his dark face flushing with pleasure.

She lifted her hand. "Stay, monsieur," she said, speaking rapidly and in French.
"There is no time for words. I was following you, and I saw you enter here. I have been waiting for you to come out, but I dared wait no longer. You must leave this state, this country, at once.
Stay"—for he was beginning to speak—
"Toinette Farge, on Bayou Desnoyers, near our plantation, has confessed to her father that it is you"—a wave of crimson dyed her face and throat, but she continued to look steadily at him—"that it is you who have disgraced her and ruined her home. Old Dominique Farge will kill you. He has sworn to hunt you down like a dog. My father is ill—we fear he is dying—he could not come himself to warn you—I did not even stop to change my dress—I have been traveling all day." She stopped, panting for breath, with her hand pressed to her side.

His eyes were glowing. He smiled ex-ultantly. "And you have done this for me, Leonie, for me!" he whispered tenderly, moving toward her with outstretched arms. "Then you do care for me! You do love?"

She drew away with a gesture of loathing. "You! God forbid!" she cried. "I do the duty of the Destrehan to the La-fite," she added calmly. "But you must go at once, monsieur. Dominique Farge may reach the city at any moment. Go before it is too late!"

It was already too late. There was a sound of footsteps above the rush of the rain, and Dominique Farge came around the corner—a large, old man, with a swart, bearded face. His blue cotton shirt—he wore no coat—was open at the throat, showing his massive chest, and the unbottomed sleeves fell away from his hairy wrists. His deep sunken eyes were bloodshot. His long, grizzled hair, soaked and matted by the rain, clung to his cheeks.
At sight of his prey his face lighted horribly. "Li morte nomme!" he hissed, with a forward spring.

Lafitte, with his eyes on the uplifted hand, stood rooted to his place. But there was a quick movement on the girl's part.
She had thrown herself in front of the intended victim, and the alligator knife in Dominique's hand descending sheathed itself in her bosom.

Without a cry and like a bayou lily whose stem has been suddenly cut, the white figure sank into the ooze of the banquette, her spurting blood dyeing the stuccoed wall.

The old man passed his hand over his starting eyes. He did not even stoop to see if the child of his neighbor and old comrade in arms were dead, but stepping back a pace he drew a revolver from his belt and placed the muzzle against his forehead.

His body fell heavily at her feet.
The report of the pistol brought a voluble, hurrying crowd into the drowned street, but there had been no witnesses of the double tragedy—which caused extraordinary comment. No one ever knew its meaning. "Toinette Farge, covering over her nameless infant in the cabin on Bayou Desnoyers, Henri Destrehan on his deathbed in the old Destrehan plantation house, even these but dimly surmised the truth.

The deaf old cabaret keeper came out to watch the removal of the dead bodies, leaving the little room quite empty.

The untasted glass of absinth on the bar glowed like a huge scintillating opal in the purple shadows.

A year later a man drifted at nightfall one day alone into a cheap pothouse on the outskirts of Paris. There was an air of decayed gentility about him. His well fitting clothes were shabby. The lining of the topcoat he carried over his arm was frayed and much soiled.

His face, covered with a stubble of black beard, was haggard. His dark, shifting eyes had a dull, outward expression. The hand which he stretched out toward the little glass, pushed toward him by the gruff, ill looking proprietor, shook almost as if
with palsy.

He grasped the slender stem eagerly and raised the glass to his lips, but set it down again with a nauseated shudder and turned away. "I cannot drink it," he muttered, dropping upon the rude bench outside the door, and drawing the brim of his hat over his eyes, as if to shut out something from his sight. "God! I am dying for it, yet I cannot drink it! There were exactly those green, changing lights in her eyes that day! And when I remember"—he threw out his arms with a gesture of self loathing—"when I remember that I am,
after all, a Lafitte only by adoption!—M.
